HOW WILL WE JUDGE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

IS IT CURE, REMEDY OR AN ANESTHETIC

CLEARFIELD MAN WILL DEFY MAKER

MANY UNBELIEVERS IN CLEARFIELD

How is the ordinary mortal going to judge whether he is in favor of a League of Nations? He may read the twenty-seven articles of the constitution and get some idea of what it means but in many instances its bewildering phraseology will lead him into a maze of wonderment and misunderstanding. What we would like to see would be a clear and plain exposition of the workings of the league in specific cases. To what extent will it embroil us in purely European disputes and squabbles? In what way will it or can it affect our relations with South America and with the Far East? To what extreme in each direction can it lead? Is it limited or are there restrictions? What possibility is there of another league of nations being formed to combat the working of this proposed league; one composed of the nations not members of this one?

The primary object of the League of Nations is to stop war. We recognize war as the "tummysache" of our world existence and after such a severe case as we have just passed thru, the average man is ready to try most any remedy, provided the dose can be regulated or safely prescribed. The general idea of men in this community is that the remedy in "League" doses will so disarrange our internal affairs that international complications may result. Opinion is divided as to whether the league is a real cure, a remedy, or an anesthetic.

That there are men in this community who publicly state that they do not believe in a living and true God, others who publicly express the belief that they do not need salvation and still another who with much attempted bravado stands up and says he will meet his God, should there be one to meet, and take the consequences whatever they be, is the astounding revelation made by one of Clearfield's best known ministers at a church service yesterday. This minister has been quietly circulating among the men of the city talking to them about their spiritual affairs, their relations with their Maker and he has made a mental note of the reception he gets from various gentlemen.

Any man who can breathe the pure air of today, draw vigor and health from the sunshine and watch the budding of the trees at this season of the year and not realize that there is a Supreme Being is to be pitied. Any man who can go through this life with all its trials and pitfalls and see the weakness of the flesh and the frailty of man and not realize the absolute need of a strength giving God is either blind to his needs or too stubborn to admit that his good sense is paramount to his egotism.

Any dampfool who declares he will stand up before an all powerful God and defy him in administering well deserved punishment is undeserving of the mercy and pardon that will be his if perchance he wakes up or comes to before the setting sun descends on the evening of his wasted life.

ELKS WILL HEAD TOWARD SOUTH

New Orleans, La., March 8.—An army of several thousand of "the Best People on Earth" is coming to New Orleans at the end of this month to participate in one of the biggest celebrations in the history of Elklod. The occasion of the gathering will be the formal dedication of the Elks' Home recently completed in this city at a cost of $800,000 and said to be the finest clubhouse of the order anywhere in the United States. Lodges throughout the country have been invited to send delegates to the celebration, the program of which will extend over a period of several days and will have as one of its leading features the initiation of 2000 Elks candidates. In addition to the two great ceremonies, a session of the Elks' War Relief commission, a national body, will be held. Grand Exalted Ruler Bruce Campbell, of East St. Louis, Ill., and other officials of the grand lodge will be in attendance.

ENGLAND WILL NOT RELINQUISH HER FOOD CONTROL

LONDON, Feb. 20. (By Mail.)—Food control is to continue for a while, at least, in England.

Restrictions on the sale of certain articles will be tightened, and in some cases removed. The government has no intention of stepping out yet from its direction of the nation's diet.

The sugar ration has been increased from one-half pound to three quarters of a pound per week, per person. The weekly margarine ration has been increased. Certain kinds of meat may be obtained without coupon.

It is expected that food cards will be continued for a while after May 1, the date when the present food books expire.

The sub-committee appointed by the Consumers' Council to investigate food control has pointed out that "before the nation can drop control of importation and distribution of foods it is necessary to have some effective weapon with which to deal with the food trust."

The committee recommends that: So long as there is a risk of scarcity of essential food stuffs, government control be maintained. Retail prices should be fixed.

Registration should be continued, but the public should be allowed to change shopping places at short intervals if desired.

The national kitchens and restaurant system should be extended.

The government should continue to import food from overseas so long as there is risk of scarcity.

The report continues:

"The question is one of national and ultimately international organization. It is intimately connected with the question of State control of shipping, the possibility of controlling food trusts and effectiveness of co-operative action."

"Obviously, if food trusts extend their operations to all markets, the only possible means of meeting this action is by the action of the state."

Mrs. W. Hayse Stton of Pine street has returned from Claysburg where she visited her sister Mrs. G. C. Miller.

'SMITHY,' 'FRENCHY' AND THE PROGRESS MAKE AN IDEAL TRIO

February 20, 1919

To the Editor of Progress
Dear Sir: Just met F. Leslie Smith and one of the first things we talked about was The Progress. I happened to have a dozen or so and we both read them over with great pleasure.

As a sort of little reunion we decided to write a few lines to you to show our appreciation for the paper. Every time any papers come in I always look forward to my little bundle of Progresses and I am hardly ever disappointed. They are coming in regular now.

One of the greatest surprises I have had since coming to France happened this morning. I went over to the Y. M. C. A. to make a little purchase. While standing in line I happened to turn around and stood face to face with F. Leslie Smith. I was so surprised that all I could say was "Smithy" and he answered "Frenchy." It was a glorious meeting.

Smithy is with the Sixth Trench mortar battery and is stationed at St. Nazaire, awaiting a ship to take him home. He will sail in a few days. I sure would like to go with him but it will be impossible for several months yet.

We expect to go down to base hospital 101 and see Oscar Barratt this afternoon. Smith and Barratt were great friends, had worked together for Boyd Thorn for about three years. They will be very glad to see each other.

Smithy has received quite a few bundles of The Progress and said he certainly appreciated them. He has done so much moving that he hardly ever gets any mail but every once in a while, he gets The Progress and gets his news from it.

Well news being pretty scarce over here will close for this time.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson at their home on Meadow street on Thursday, a daughter.

A social at Grace Lutheran church on Friday evening was a social and financial success.

It is not a question of higher taxes so much as it is where is the money to come from to pay them. Taking into consideration slack times since January it must be said that money is not near so plentiful at this time as it was a year ago. During the past two years it was not much of a burden for property owners to meet the tax demand, from the fact that work was plentiful and money was plentiful. This borough can get along without a $12,000 fire truck at present—at least a chance can be taken on fighting a fire with the old fire apparatus for a while yet. An economic trend of conducting borough affairs is the only solution of redeeming the borough debt.

At a recent session held by the Curwensville and Pike township good road association, matters were discussed which were of vast importance. The executive committee made its report relative to what roads entering the town should be improved. Your executive committee would recommend that this association endorse and ask for the building of the following roads on the 50-50 basis, to wit: From the end of the brick highway beyond the Pee-Wees Nest to Bloomington. From Robins school house to Glen Richey. From Curwensville borough line at Naulton to the George Bailey place.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dale who visited relatives in Altoona last week, returned to their home on Friday evening.

Clyde L. McGee, of McGees Mills, and Miss Lucile Farrier, Mahaffey, united in marriage at Grace Lutheran church Saturday at 12 o'clock noon by Rev. I. P. Hawkins. The groom has just returned from army service in Germany.

A recital will be given on Tuesday evening in Conservatory of Music by the advanced students. Program commences at 8 o'clock. All pupils of conservatory admitted free. Admission 15 and 25 cents. Streabogg Duett, "Fairy Waltz" Streabogg Louise and William Kittelberger Piano, "Grandpa's Farm" Fearis Kathryn Smith Spencer Piano, "Merry Birds" Elizabeth Kittelberger

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights. Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

AUSTRIA PRINTED PAPER MONEY AS FAST AS NEEDED

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Prague, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 5—

By Mail—Austria's flighty war finances have made the world wonder, but they were simple, after all, as after-the-war stories reveal. The Hapsburg regime just "made money" to fight the war.

The Czechoslovak minister of finance vouches for the truth of the following enlightening explanations of how Austria's treasury kept supplied, though taxes in the dual monarchy were less during the war than in peace times, according to Minister Rasin.

One of the best Viennese financial schemes was a very intricate and speedy machine for printing war notes, which of course were the only money used in the Hapsburg empire during the war. Silver was unseen, and gold unheard of.

This elaborate and fast printing machine was in a public building in Vienna and when the revolution broke and shooting took place outside the building, the employees in charge of the money machine fled in a hurry. Electrically operated the machine continued to run, and no one knew how to stop it.

It printed enormous quantities of new notes, according to the Czechoslovak minister, before someone finally stopped it by throwing a wrench into the mechanism.

Another Austrian finance ruse was to offer soldiers five days' permission for a hundred crown subscription to the war loan. This succeeded in stimulating investments, to such an extent in the army that the offer had to be withdrawn.

Due to the shaky war finances, the crown is so low in value today that it is almost valueless as exchange, except for people going into the dual monarchy's area. A dollar will buy more than 20 crowns inside Austria. The actual value of a crown is estimated as low as three cents, but it is exchanged at higher value.

I saw it in The Progress.

UNSTABLE POSITION OF GOVERNMENT IN BERLIN SAID TO HAVE MADE THIS CONCESSION NECESSARY

FIGHTING CONTINUES IN BERLIN

By FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, March 10.—The Supreme Economic Commission is expected to resume conferences with the Germans at Brussels immediately. The new program mapped out by the Supreme War Council will, it is believed, be readily accepted by the enemy.

This provides first—for the practical removal of the economic blockade, permitting Germany to export such commodities as coal and potash.

Second—establishment of neutral credit by Germany.

Third—use of German gold reserve if money made by other means falls short of the amount needed.

This program fits in completely with the additional terms included in the armistice during January. Increasingly serious conditions in Germany threatening the present government have made immediate the Allied decision of details imperative. In return for the enactment of this program, which will enable the Germans to purchase necessities to last until their next harvest is available in August, the enemy will be required to turn over practically its entire merchant fleet.

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, March 10.—The revolution appeared tonight to have gotten beyond the control of its leaders although the general strike was officially called off yesterday afternoon. Following a comparative agreement with the government fighting was still going on in several parts of the city.

It is unofficially estimated that 500 persons have been killed and 1,000 wounded, including many women and children during the fighting the past few days. While the fighting was at its height, with airplanes of both sides battling over head and cannons battering down buildings and machine guns and rifle bullets sweeping the streets, men and women a block from the scene of the fighting appeared to be unaware of anything out of the ordinary.

BOMB OUTRAGE AT MT. CARMEL

Mt. Carmel, Pa., March 10.—A dynamite bomb exploded early today wrecking the saloon of James Schiavoni and the adjoining residence of Roland Colozas, an Italian.

REDUCTION OF IRON PRICES WORK OF INDUSTRY BOARD

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The government this week expected to take its first direct step toward bringing down war prices following the organization of the new industrial board. An effort will be made to realize a big reduction in the price of iron and steel. There will be a conference here Wednesday of a committee of iron and steel men recently appointed and headed by Judge E. H. Gary, of the United States Steel Corporation. The plan is to have the steel men of the board agree on prices at which iron and steel will be sold and industries have agreed to co-operate in the reduction of prices to relieve the present business stagnation. The price of food and building materials will be taken up after the steel and iron problem is settled.

Reginald Stevens, a Woodland boy arrived home Friday evening last, having been honorably discharged from the army at Camp Dix, N. J.

He joined the army on June 1st, 1918 and was sent to Camp Forest Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., where he was a bugler in the 805th Engineers.

After coming north to go over seas he became ill and was sent to a hospital at Camp Upton and his regiment went on without him.

He was later sent over seas, arriving in England three days before the armistice was signed. From there he was sent to Angers, France, where he became bugler of Co. A 116 Engineers, which is a part of the 41st or Somerset Division.

He was in Brest four days and reports the conditions there good.

He came back on the U. S. S. Kanasa, there being 2,000 soldiers on board. They were royally received upon landing at New York and he speaks highly of the work of the Salvation Army, and their work among the soldiers.

DRY ADVOCATES UNDER SUSPICION

Burglars prowled about the centre of town Saturday night last and so far as has been reported to the police two different buildings were broken into and robbed.

Entrance was gained to Nick Ortano's Third street shoe repair shop through a rear window and several pairs of shoes were carried away.

At the Moose Rooms on Market street a hole was punched in a rear window, and after turning back the lock the burglar entered and rifled the cash register in the grill room of some five or six dollars.

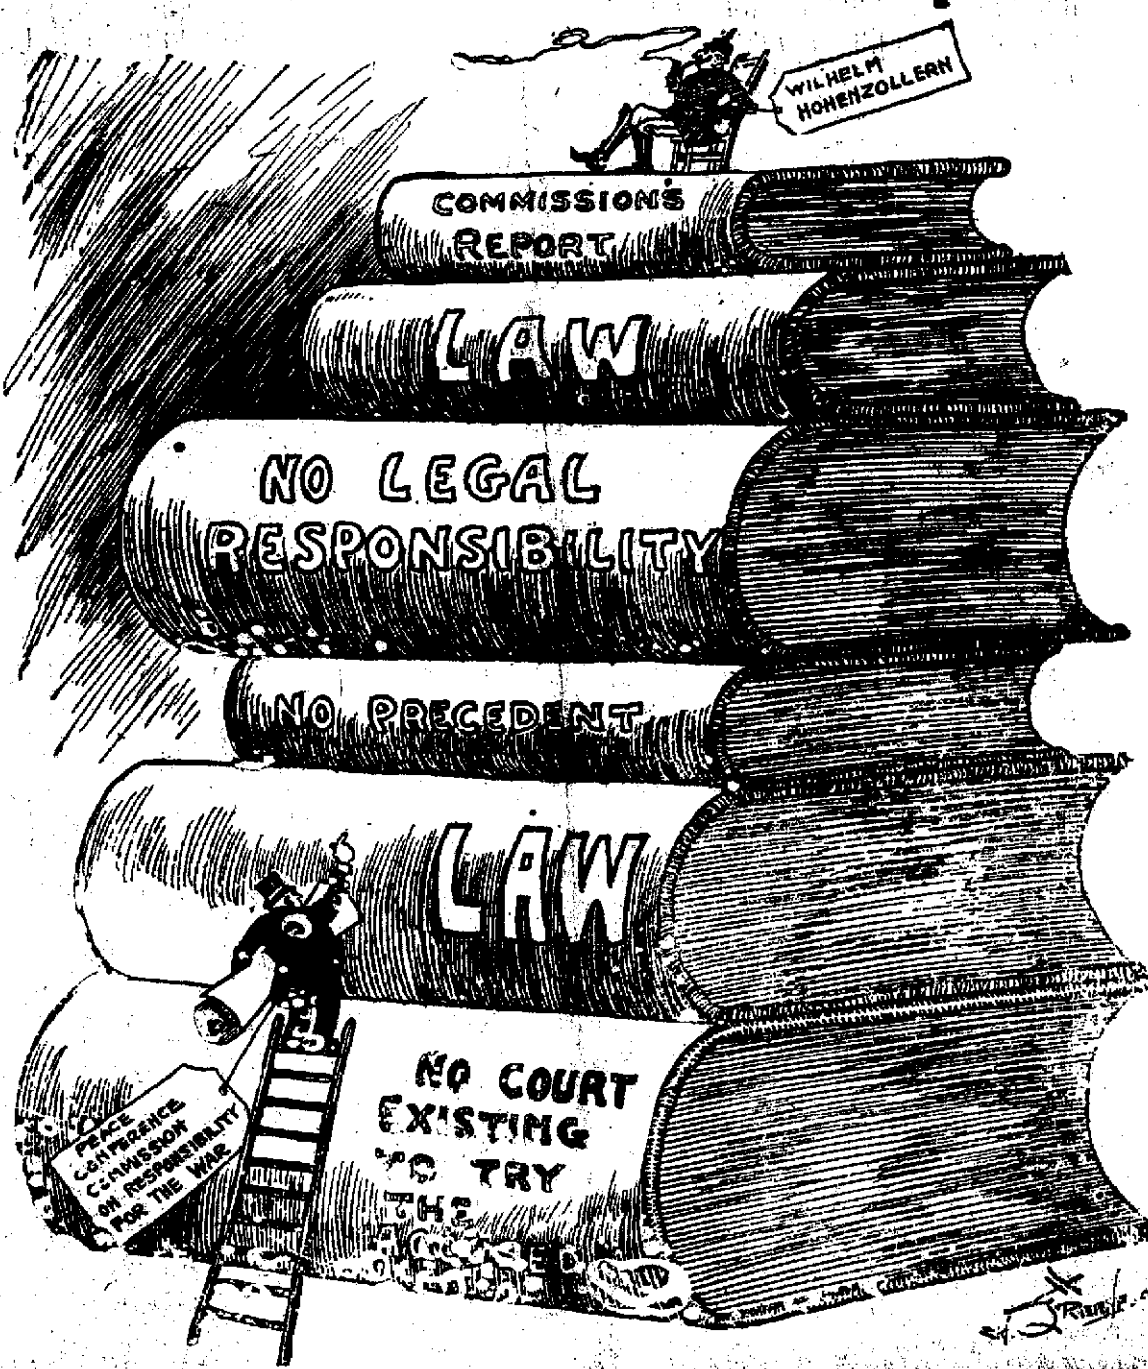

No clue was left behind other than that the robber was evidently a prohibitionist or possible member of the anti-saloon league, because he never touched a bottle or two of "spirits of disturbance" plainly in sight.

CLEARFIELD BOY A DISPATCH RIDER

Charles J. Doyle, the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times correspondent with the A. E. F. in France, had a lengthy article in Sunday's Gazette-Times, in which he spoke of the motor cycle dispatch riders of the Eightieth Division in glowing terms. He says "it is hard for the people back home to know what these motor cycle riders accomplished on their steel steeds but those who were near the front and saw them in action will always have a deep feeling of admiration for the boys."

George Shillen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shillen, of Clearfield, was a member of the squad of eight whose names are given in the article as deserving great praise.

RAMSEY HAS MOST PECULIAR IDEAS OF INTOXICANTS

(By United Press.)

HARRISBURG, March 10.—With May 15 practically agreed upon as the objective date for the adjournment of the 1919 legislature, both the Senate and House are expected to speed up in their work during the present week, and passage of much legislation of an important character is looked for. When Congress adjourns without action relative to the prohibition amendment the question of regulatory legislation was practically left to the state and a number of bills by both the liquor interests and the prohibitionists are expected.

Representative Ramsey of Delaware county declared some time ago that he would introduce bills providing that beverages containing less than 15 per cent. alcohol should not be considered intoxicating. This would allow the brewing of beer and light wines. The prohibitionists have under consideration a bill for practically eliminating all beverages in which there is over 1 per cent. alcohol.

A meeting of all those interested in the Armenian and Syrian Relief movement will be held in the Arbitration room of the court house at 8 o'clock this evening. This most important humane proposition will be placed before the meeting in a most illuminating and convincing manner and the information gained will well repay any person for their attendance.

The matter of Armenian and Syrian relief has been practically neglected thus far in Clearfield and Clearfield county and this meeting is called for the purpose of acquainting our people with the absolute necessity from prompt and liberal action.

FILE TENTATIVE INCOME TAX RETURN BEFORE SATURDAY

(By United Press.)

Pittsburgh, March 10.—C. G. Lewellyn, collector of internal revenue, stated today that corporation forms, on which to prepare tentative returns, have been mailed to every corporation in the twenty-third district of Pennsylvania. Every corporation should estimate the amount of tax due for the year 1918, and file tentative return on or before March 15, 1919. Said tentative return must be accompanied by remittance covering at least one-fourth of the estimated amount of tax due.

Forms on which to prepare complete return will not be ready for distribution until after March 15th, thereby making it incumbent upon every corporation to file tentative form on or before March 15th. When the complete forms are issued by the treasury department, copies of same will be mailed to every corporation in this district.

WIRE CONTROL NOT TO BE PERMANENT

By United Press

NEW YORK, March 10.—Government control of the telephone and telegraph systems is not in any sense permanent and the property is to be returned after a limited period, according to Theodore N. Vail, president of the Bell system in his annual report made public today.

"THERE IS HOPE"

Washington, March 6.—"John dissolve me a cocktail." That's the way we'll say it when the nonalcoholic cocktail of Prohibition days comes into vogue. John will take a plug, much like an old-fashioned plug of tobacco, out of his hip pocket, whittle off a splinter and drop it into a glass with some water and ice. He will shake it with the same old motion, but there is no assurance it will have the same old taste. It will have the same old kick, its authors say. One W. S. Rogers is reported President of a company organizing here to make compressed cocktails in a laboratory in San Jose, Cal.

PRESIDENT STUDIES PEACE PROBLEMS ABOARD HIS SHIP

By CARL D. GROAT
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Aboard The U. S. S. George Washington, March 10.—President Wilson was suffering from a slight cold today but Rear Admiral Grayson said it was not serious. The President received a great quantity of wireless messages from Paris detailing the progress of the peace work. He spent some time in his study going over this data.

It was announced that he would go from Brest direct to Paris to get in immediate touch with Secretary Lansing, Col. House and other members of the American delegation. According to those close to the President, he has not decided to consent to any radical changes in the League of Nations' draft but will await the result of conferences with other delegates before making a definite statement in this regard.

HOOVER TO RESIGN MUST ALSO EARN A LIVING, HE SAYS

By United Press

PARIS, March 10.—Herbert Hoover discussing the world crop situation intimated that he and the other members of the Food Administration would resign in July because of the necessity of earning a living. "These problems will need to be solved by someone else," he said in referring to the questions of price fixing and food distribution, "because neither myself nor the other men in the Food Administration will be able to continue in the service of the government after next July. We also must earn a living."

H. P. Dalrymple, of Dupis, was in at 8 o'clock. All embers should be town yesterday attending to business, present.

MANY CHANGES DUE IN SUPREME COURT JUDGES IN FUTURE

Washington, D. C., March 10.—Twenty-five years ago this week Chief Justice Edward D. White received his appointment to the Supreme court of the United States. On November 3 next the Chief Justice will enter upon his seventy-fifth year, which calls to mind the fact that three of the present members of the highest tribunal have passed the age of 70 years, which makes them eligible to retirement, while a fourth member will arrive at the 70th milestone a few weeks hence. Probably never before in the whole history of the court has the age of the justices averaged so high.

The oldest of the members is Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes who is in his 78th year. Next comes Justice Joseph McKenna, who is 76. Justice William R. Day will be 70 next month.

There is no power to force the retirement of any of these justices, but should they choose to leave the supreme bench it will give the next President of the United States power to radically recast the tribunal. Rumors have been current from time to time that one or more of the aged justices intended to retire, but there is no intimation that any of them will do so at the present time.

It is apparent, however, that the next administration will witness the disappearance from public life of several of these eminent publicists. A great power thus will be vested in the hands of the next President. Before the next administration comes to an end Chief Justice White will have passed his 80th year, which renders it a practical certainty that a new presiding officer of the highest court in the land will have to be selected by the next President.

The honor and responsibility of naming the chief justice of this high tribunal is given to the President, a few Presidents in the nearly 120 years which have passed since the Supreme court held its first session in the Exchange of the City of New York, February 4, 1790, twenty-seven men have served as President of the United States, but there have been only nine men to serve as chief justice. John Jay, John Rutledge, Oliver Ellsworth, John Marshall, Roger Taney, Salmon P. Chase, Morrison B. Waite, Melville W. Fuller and Edward D. White formed the distinguished list. Marshall served the longest term, thirty-four years. He and Taney together covered a period of sixty-three eventful years. The Senate refused to confirm the appointment of John Rutledge because his brilliant mind had shown signs of decay, so his connection with the court was short.

Jay, Rutledge and Ellsworth presided during the administrations of Washington and Adams. John Marshall was nominated by John Adams to the office which he was to honor just one month before Jefferson, who was antipathetic to him, was inaugurated. He presided during the administrations of Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, John Quincy Adams and Jackson.

Taney was appointed by Jackson, shortly before Van Buren's accession to the Presidency and presided until Abraham Lincoln's time. It was hoped that the presidential aspirations of Salmon P. Chase would be satisfied by the chief justiceship, and Senator Sumner having urged the immediate confirmation of his appointment, hastened to congratulate him. But both Justice Chase and his brilliant daughter, Mrs. Kate Sprague, were inclined to view the appointment as a move to shelve the justice in his plans to become a candidate for the Presidency.

Justice White will complete his tenth year as the presiding officer of the supreme court next year. Despite his seventy-five years he is in vigorous health and, as far as the public knows, has no thought of retiring. But in the event of Republican success in the next election it would not be surprising if the Chief Justice should step out before March 4, 1921. Though party politics is supposed to play no part in the affairs of the court Chief Justice White is a life-long Democrat and naturally would be inclined to give President Wilson an opportunity to appoint a Democrat as his successor in the chief justiceship.

PETE BROWN PLANS TO MAC-A-DAM THE ROAD OUT HIS WAY

(With apologies to Secretary Grubbs)

Editor, Clearfield Progress:—The people of Graham and Grand townships have lost much sleep late of late trying to figure out how they were to share in a part of the fifty million dollar road fund that is to be spent, but no action could be arrived at and they probably would have never gotten any of it had it not been for the untiring efforts of their good friend and neighbor, Pete Brown. He has solved the problem and there is no doubt now but that a large part of the road fund will be spent in these townships.

It is generally known that these hungry appetites are appeased at Peter's during the good weather season than at all the other eating joints in the country, and for this fact, is why they are to get his good food.

Peter has petitioned with several hundred chicken-eating citizens of it praying for a good road out to Peter's place. He expects to start to Harrisburg soon and call on Congressman Sadler and Gov. Sproul, and present this petition together with some of his best fried chickens, and after the petition has been given over carefully, and Peter explaining the particular characteristics of each chicken, and after the officials have devoured the fried chicken, there is not the least doubt but that they will send a road out to Peter's place.

It is no certain of it that he is trying to contract with Dr. Kalkins and Dr. Kelly for all their turkey, even next year so that he can furnish all with turkey on Christmas. In addition to this he is setting forth here and there for part of the summer months he has contracted with the farmers for all their eggs and turkey, and after the officials have devoured the fried chicken, there is not the least doubt but that they will send a road out to Peter's place.

AN EVENING THE SCRIBE ENJOYED

Reading, Mayor's speech last night, and the various news items, the scribe had nothing on his mind but to enjoy the evening.

The occasion was a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Felt, at the Quail avenue house, in honor of three members of the famed Second Division that stopped the brute march to Paris, Serg. David McCracken, Serg. Larry Fink and Maxine Chaworth. There were also present, Walter, Horace and John Felt, Lieut. Ferguson, Dist. Atty. John Arnold and a scribe.

After partaking of a delicious repast those of us who had not had the good fortune to get to the front, settled back in our chairs to listen and it was some listening and a bit of our word for it. Each of the men had a story to tell and the telling was more than enjoyable. It was to show why the boys were stopped after suffering wounds, privations and every sort of hardship. These boys of ours told their story with a laugh, the real saving grace in the American soldier's life. The laughable argument as to which was the better service—land or sea—wasn't—cruelty and war would not be downed.

It was nearing the end of the evening when the party finally broke up and since thinking over the whole thing to wonder what would have happened to Hinkle if the armistice had not been signed when it was.

HOW WILL WE JUDGE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

IS IT CURE, REMEDY OR AN ANESTHETIC

CLEARFIELD MAN WILL DEFY MAKER

MANY UNBELIEVERS IN CLEARFIELD

How is the ordinary mortal going to judge whether he is in favor of a League of Nations? He may read the twenty-seven articles of the constitution and get some idea of what it means but in many instances its bewildering phraseology will lead him into a maze of wonderment and misunderstanding. What we would like to see would be a clear and plain exposition of the workings of the league in specific cases. To what extent will it embroil us in purely European disputes and squabbles? In what way will it or can it affect our relations with South America and with the Far East? To what extreme in each direction can it lead? Is it limited or are there restrictions? What possibility is there of another league of nations being formed to combat the working of this proposed league; one composed of the nations not members of this one?

The primary object of the League of Nations is to stop war. We recognize war as the "tummysache" of our world existence and after such a severe case as we have just passed thru, the average man is ready to try most any remedy, provided the dose can be regulated or safely prescribed. The general idea of men in this community is that the remedy in "League" doses will so disarrange our internal affairs that international complications may result. Opinion is divided as to whether the league is a real cure, a remedy, or an anesthetic.

That there are men in this community who publicly state that they do not believe in a living and true God, others who publicly express the belief that they do not need salvation and still another who with much attempted bravado stands up and says he will meet his God, should there be one to meet, and take the consequences whatever they be, is the astounding revelation made by one of Clearfield's best known ministers at a church service yesterday. This minister has been quietly circulating among the men of the city talking to them about their spiritual affairs, their relations with their Maker and he has made a mental note of the reception he gets from various gentlemen.

Any man who can breathe the pure air of today, draw vigor and health from the sunshine and watch the budding of the trees at this season of the year and not realize that there is a Supreme Being is to be pitied. Any man who can go through this life with all its trials and pitfalls and see the weakness of the flesh and the frailty of man and not realize the absolute need of a strength giving God is either blind to his needs or too stubborn to admit that his good sense is paramount to his egotism.

Any dampfool who declares he will stand up before an all powerful God and defy him in administering well deserved punishment is undeserving of the mercy and pardon that will be his if perchance he wakes up or comes to before the setting sun descends on the evening of his wasted life.

ELKS WILL HEAD TOWARD SOUTH

New Orleans, La., March 8.—An army of several thousand of "the Best People on Earth" is coming to New Orleans at the end of this month to participate in one of the biggest celebrations in the history of Elklod. The occasion of the gathering will be the formal dedication of the Elks' Home recently completed in this city at a cost of $800,000 and said to be the finest clubhouse of the order anywhere in the United States. Lodges throughout the country have been invited to send delegates to the celebration, the program of which will extend over a period of several days and will have as one of its leading features the initiation of 2000 Elks candidates. In addition to the two great ceremonies, a session of the Elks' War Relief commission, a national body, will be held. Grand Exalted Ruler Bruce Campbell, of East St. Louis, Ill., and other officials of the grand lodge will be in attendance.

"ALLIES DESERVE CREDIT BUT AMERICA WON WAR," IS PERSHING'S MESSAGE

CHEYENNE, WYO., Mar. 7.—

"Give France and England the credit they claim. We can be generous enough to them, but say to the American people, for me, that American men won the war, and they won it in 1918 and not in 1920."

This is the message Gen. Pershing gave to Maj. Alfred H. Beach, commanding the One Hundred and Sixteenth Ammunition train, made up of Wyoming men, who arrived here today.

ENGLAND WILL NOT RELINQUISH HER FOOD CONTROL

LONDON, Feb. 29. (By Mail.)—Food control is to continue for a while, at least, in England.

Restrictions on the sale of certain articles will be tightened, and in some cases removed. The government has no intention of stepping out yet from its direction of the nation's diet. The sugar ration has been increased from one-half pound to three-quarters of a pound per week, per person. The weekly margarine ration has been increased. Certain kinds of meat may be obtained without coupon.

It is expected that food cards will be continued for a while after May 1, the date when the present food books expire.

The sub-committee appointed by the Consumers' Council to investigate food control has pointed out that "before the nation can drop control of importation and distribution of foods it is necessary to have some effective weapon with which to deal with the food trust."

The committee recommends that: So long as there is a risk of scarcity of essential food stuffs, government control be maintained. Retail prices should be fixed.

Registration should be continued, but the public should be allowed to change shopping places at short intervals if desired.

The national kitchens and restaurant system should be extended.

The government should continue to import food from overseas so long as there is risk of scarcity.

The report continues:

"The question is one of national and ultimately international organization. It is intimately connected with the question of State control of shipping, the possibility of controlling food trusts and effectiveness of co-operative action."

"Obviously, if food trusts extend their operations to all markets, the only possible means of meeting this action is by the action of the state."

Mrs. W. Hayse Stton of Pine street has returned from Claysburg where she visited her sister Mrs. G. C. Miller.

'SMITHY,' 'FRENCHY' AND THE PROGRESS MAKE AN IDEAL TRIO

February 20, 1919

To the Editor of Progress
Dear Sir: Just met F. Leslie Smith and one of the first things we talked about was The Progress. I happened to have a dozen or so and we both read them over with great pleasure.

As a sort of little reunion we decided to write a few lines to you to show our appreciation for the paper. Every time any papers come in I always look forward to my little bundle of Progresses and I am hardly ever disappointed. They are coming in regular now.

One of the greatest surprises I have had since coming to France happened this morning. I went over to the Y. M. C. A. to make a little purchase. While standing in line I happened to turn around and stood face to face with F. Leslie Smith. I was so surprised that all I could say was "Smithy" and he answered "Frenchy." It was a glorious meeting.

Smithy is with the Sixth Trench mortar battery and is stationed at St. Nazaire, awaiting a ship to take him home. He will sail in a few days. I sure would like to go with him but it will be impossible for several months yet.

We expect to go down to base hospital 101 and see Oscar Barratt this afternoon. Smith and Barratt were great friends, had worked together for Boyd Thorn for about three years. They will be very glad to see each other.

Smithy has received quite a few bundles of The Progress and said he certainly appreciated them. He has done so much moving that he hardly ever gets any mail but every once in a while, he gets The Progress and gets his news from it.

Well news being pretty scarce over here will close for this time.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson at their home on Meadow street on Thursday, a daughter.

A social at Grace Lutheran church on Friday evening was a social and financial success.

It is not a question of higher taxes so much as it is where is the money to come from to pay them. Taking into consideration slack times since January it must be said that money is not near so plentiful at this time as it was a year ago. During the past two years it was not much of a burden for property owners to meet the tax demand, from the fact that work was plentiful and money was plentiful. This borough can get along without a $12,000 fire truck at present—at least a chance can be taken on fighting a fire with the old fire apparatus for a while yet. An economic trend of conducting borough affairs is the only solution of redeeming the borough debt.

At a recent session held by the Curwensville and Pike township good road association, matters were discussed which were of vast importance. The executive committee made its report relative to what roads entering the town should be improved. Your executive committee would recommend that this association endorse and ask for the building of the following roads on the 50-50 basis, to wit: From the end of the brick highway beyond the Pee-Wees Nest to Bloomington. From Robins school house to Glen Richey. From Curwensville borough line at Naulton to the George Bailey place.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dale who visited relatives in Altoona last week, returned to their home on Friday evening.

Clyde L. McGee, of McGees Mills, and Miss Lucile Farrier, Mahaffey, united in marriage at Grace Lutheran church Saturday at 12 o'clock noon by Rev. I. P. Hawkins. The groom has just returned from army service in Germany.

A recital will be given on Tuesday evening in Conservatory of Music by the advanced students. Program commences at 8 o'clock. All pupils of conservatory admitted free. Admission 15 and 25 cents.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

AUSTRIA PRINTED PAPER MONEY AS FAST AS NEEDED

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Prague, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 5—

By Mail—Austria's flighty war finances have made the world wonder, but they were simple, after all, as after-the-war stories reveal. The Hapsburg regime just "made money" to fight the war.

The Czechoslovak minister of finance vouches for the truth of the following enlightening explanations of how Austria's treasury kept supplied, though taxes in the dual monarchy were less during the war than in peace times, according to Minister Rasin.

One of the best Viennese financial schemes was a very intricate and speedy machine for printing war notes, which of course were the only money used in the Hapsburg empire during the war. Silver was unseen, and gold unheard of.

This elaborate and fast printing machine was in a public building in Vienna and when the revolution broke and shooting took place outside the building, the employees in charge of the money machine fled in a hurry. Electrically operated the machine continued to run, and no one knew how to stop it.

It printed enormous quantities of new notes, according to the Czechoslovak minister, before someone finally stopped it by throwing a wrench into the mechanism.

Another Austrian finance rule was to offer soldiers five days' permission for a hundred crown subscription to the war loan. This succeeded in stimulating investments, to such an extent in the army that the offer had to be withdrawn.

Due to the shaky war finances, the crown is so low in value today that it is almost valueless as exchange, except for people going into the dual monarchy's area. A dollar will buy more than 20 crowns inside Austria. The actual value of a crown is estimated as low as three cents, but it is exchanged at higher value.

CLEARFIELD GIRL DIES IN PHILADELPHIA

Miss Nell Ryan, daughter of the late Jack and Mrs. Catherine Ryan, died at St. Agnes' hospital, Philadelphia, at an early hour this morning, following an operation for appendicitis and other complications.

The deceased was about 23 years of age and spent most of her life in Clearfield. She was a bright, attractive young woman, and before coming to Philadelphia, was employed at the Bess Bros. store. Early last summer she entered the St. Agnes' hospital to train for a nurse and was engaged when stricken with appendicitis and other complications. She rallied following the operation, but a few days later the worst occurred and her mother and brother were called to her bedside and her mother was with her when she passed away.

She is survived by her mother, three sisters and one brother, viz: Mrs. Edgar Westcott, Mrs. P. L. Brion, Miss Dallas and William Ryan, all of Clearfield. Funeral announcement later.

CENTRE COUNTY MAN SUPERINTENDENT

W. O. Bennett, formerly county superintendent of state highways for Centre county with headquarters at Williamsport, is now acting assistant engineer in charge of the Eight Highway District, at DuBois, replacing Capt. F. E. Winter, who goes to War.

It is not definitely known whether Mr. Bennett's appointment is to be permanent or temporary. He has had wide experience in road building and has made a record for road construction in Centre county, that merited his promotion to the district superintendency here.

SIN TRENCHES ARE STORMED BY SEC'Y GRAFFIUS OF THE 'Y'

The men's mass meeting at the Y. M. C. A. was a grand success. After a good song service led by Mr. McDevitt and a prayer offered by Rev. Baker, our secretary, Charles E. Graffius held the attention of the one hundred and fifty men and boys over fourteen by his plain and true spoken address on hand grenades. For almost an hour he threw hand grenades and shelled the woods of the enemy trenches in a general talk against sin, and law violators of our town for selling both cigarettes and liquor to minors, gambling in our garages and pool rooms, and he also paid his respects to Manager Driggs musical comedies and burlesque shows with their overhead illuminated runway and dancing over the heads of the audience. He voiced his objections to some of the half-dressed pictures on the billboards advertising these shows. He said they were not fit for our boys and girls to see and read as they passed by on their way to school or church.

At the close of his address, he asked for all the men and boys who were with him in this fight to clean up our town to rise to their feet as they sang Onward Christian Soldiers. He asked them to prove or show which side of the fence they were on by coming up to the platform and shaking hands with him. There were men and boys there from all the different denominations of the churches in town. All the young men and almost all of the older men proved and assured Mr. Graffius that they were with him in his fight for civic righteousness by walking up to the platform and shaking hands with him.

The meeting next Sunday will be for ladies only and no girls under fourteen years of age will be admitted. All ladies invited to come and hear Mr. Graffius' address on "The American Girl."

A Review Of New York Fashions As Seen By Our Buyer On His Recent Trip To New York

The prevailing note in Spring apparel seems to be practicality, with many novel details to give a touch of newness. Indications point to a continuance of the straight and narrow silhouette with quiet, subdued shades leading in the color scheme.

As a style-leader the Box Suit continues to hold sway and is being prominently featured. Undoubtedly it is the most shown suit style; but other new ideas have been introduced that lend variety.

Smart Suits of the semi-sport type, showing novelty features, are big favorites. Vest effects in suits are uniformly popular, sometimes the vest being wide and much in evidence, and again it is a mere inset of contrasting color, breaking the one-tone effect of the suit proper. Pockets have been adapted to the American tailored suit, and appear on the majority of suit jackets made of wool fabrics. Nearly all skirts are narrow, long and plain, with occasional one shown with scant inset pleats on either side of the front width.

Coats are immensely interesting, but the cape or dolman type seems at present to be the favorite. There is a fascinating look about this Spring wrap and for show-up purposes is varied in colors and generally made in two materials charmingly combined. The cape often takes the form of a short, circular affair that reminds one of grandmother's days. Loose, straight coats, sometimes belted, often hanging free, and made of heavy wool fabrics, are shown for motor wear.

Smart Frocks feature a distinctive note of simplicity, but there are also some novel methods of decoration. The long, slender silhouette is in vogue although many of the newest models show skillfully draped skirts. Long, uneven tunics are popular and the moyen age type of frock is in high favor. More "frills" are applied to taffeta frocks than any other of the Spring dresses. Sports satin is prominently featured and combined with knitted fabrics, and occasionally a striped sweater-bloss is seen.

Separate Skirts are prominently featured as there is a good demand for them; garments of the sport type, but employing such exquisite material that they are really suitable for any occasion, having the first call. Simple, straight line skirts are the favorites. White skirts promise to be in great favor, and are shown in Georgette, various plain and fancy silk crepes, sport satin, flannel, and other materials. The accordion-pleated skirt, usually made up in plain or fancy taffeta, seems to receive much attention.

The outstanding feature about the Blouses for Spring seems to be the novel neck lines with or without a collar and sleeves of different lengths made open and wide or finished with an elaborate cuff. The low cut blouse undoubtedly show great popularity, but there is also quite a demand for models with a tall collar. There is an unusual demand for blouses of henna, cherry and flame-colored Georgette, with little trimming save frills of the material or braiding in self-tone soutache.

The Millinery reveals a multitude of new style features, and fabrics share popularity with straw hats. Particularly the First Empire period has been drawn upon extensively for what is known as Victory styles. Plumes and feathers promise especially well, and turbans of rich colors remind one of the Empress Josephine. New and charming styles in dress hats, restaurant hats and dinner hats are drawing a great deal of attention; many motifs developed in fine straws are everywhere to be seen.
